

The Office of the Governor and the Michigan Department of Civil Rights presents the
"Third Annual Youth Roundtable on Diversity and Michigan's Future"

Celebrating

A Black President:
What it means to the civil rights movement
of our past, present and future?

When: Wednesday February 18, 2009, 3:00 - 5:00 p.m.

Where: *Wayne State University
Community Arts Auditorium
450 Reuther Mall (off Cass)*

Join us as a panel of students from Metropolitan Detroit high schools and Wayne State University dialogue with Gov. Jennifer M. Granholm and MDCR Director Kelvin W. Scott about issues confronting young people of Michigan today, including civil rights, education, employment and race relations.

WDIV Channel 4 news anchor, Devin Scillian will serve as a guest speaker with special performances by InsideOut Citywide Poets and Singing Young New-Aged College Students (SYNCS), a Wayne State University show choir.

For more information contact
The Michigan Department of Civil Rights Communications Director, Trevor Coleman
(517) 712-5812